

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

08 CIV 41027

-----X
BARBARA VAUGHAN,

Plaintiff,

v.

MERCK & CO., INC.,

Defendant.
-----X

Civil Action No.

Plaintiff Barbara Vaughan ("Plaintiff"), by her attorneys, for her Complaint against defendant Merck & Co., Inc. ("Merck" or "Defendant"), alleges:

1. This is a civil action for damages suffered by Plaintiff as a result of her being prescribed and ingesting Defendant's drug Fosamax.

PARTIES

2. Plaintiff is a citizen and resident of the State of Arizona, residing in Stuttgart, Arizona.

3. At all times herein mentioned, Defendant was and is a New Jersey corporation, with its principal place of business at One Merck Drive, Whitehouse Station, New Jersey 08889-0100.

4. At all times herein mentioned, Defendant did business in the States of New York and Arizona.

JURISDICTION

5. This Court has original jurisdiction over this action under 28 U.S.C. § 1332, in that the amount in controversy exceeds seventy five thousand dollars ($75,000.00) and Plaintiff is a citizen of a State which is different from the State where defendant is incorporated and has its principal place of business.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

6. Defendant designed, tested, developed, manufactured, labeled, marketed, distributed and sold Fosamax.

7. Fosamax is the brand name of alendronate sodium, which is in a class of prescription drugs called bisphosphonates. Fosamax is taken orally.

8. Fosamax was approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for treatment of osteoporosis.

9. The product literature prepared by Merck and circulated to physicians for use in prescribing the drug contained no warning about osteonecrosis of the jaw or other bone structure.

10. In 2002 or before, Defendant knew or should have known that a physician reported that several of his patients who were given Aredia, another bisphosphonate, were diagnosed with osteonecrosis of the jaw and that the physician believed a causal relationship existed between the use of bisphosphonates and osteonecrosis of the jaw.

11. Another group of physicians published a report about patients being diagnosed with osteonecrosis of the jaw after being given Aredia and Zometa, also a bisphosphonate. The report said, "the jaw complications presented in this review have had a major negative effect on the quality of daily life for each of these patients" and determined that "bisphosphonates may be at least partially responsible." Ruggiero, et al., "Osteonecrosis of the Jaws Associated with the Use of Bisphosphonates: A Review of 63 Cases," Journal of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery, vol. 62, p. 533 (2004).

12. In September 2004 and May 2005, another manufacturer sent warnings to physicians regarding the risk of osteonecrosis of the jaw with the use of its bisphosphonates, Aredia and Zometa.

13. Defendant never issued any warnings or changed its product literature to warn of the risk of osteonecrosis of the jaw.

14. Plaintiff was prescribed and took Fosamax.

15. As a result of taking Fosamax, Plaintiff developed osteonecrosis of the jaw.

16. As a result of taking Fosamax Plaintiff suffered compensable injuries, including but not limited to the following:

- a. severe and permanent physical and medical injuries and associated disabilities;
- b. severe past and future pain and suffering;
- c. severe past and future mental anguish;
- d. loss of enjoyment of life;
- e. increased risk of health problems;
- f. past and future medical care and monitoring; and
- g. loss of past and future income.

20. Fosamax as designed, manufactured and sold by Defendant was defective in design or formulation in that its foreseeable risks exceeded the benefits associated with the design or formulation.

21. Fosamax as designed, manufactured and sold by Defendant was defective due to inadequate warnings because Defendant knew or should have known that the product created a risk of harm to consumers.

22. Fosamax as designed, manufactured and sold by Defendant was defective due to inadequate testing.
